EXPERIENCE

Head of AI Content, Debenhams Group

July 2024 - Present

I joined Debenhams as a Motion Designer and spent two years focused entirely on AI before becoming Head of AI Content across the group. I built an in-house AI workflow for styling, generation, review and delivery. It reduced costs per product by around 92%, based on before-and-after estimates, and enabled paid work for external vendors. I presented this work in America to industry leaders from companies including Ralph Lauren, Walmart, The Home Depot and Calvin Klein.

Freelance

November 2023 - July 2024

While freelancing, I worked with agencies and in-house teams on motion design, video editing and creative design. The briefs took me across different formats, from moving-image content to VR products and Meta filters.

Senior Motion Designer, The One Off

January 2022 - November 2023

At The One Off, I introduced 3D motion design for Sports Direct and created content across several brands. I also pitched ideas directly to clients and stakeholders, taking part in the conversations that shaped the work.

Senior Motion Designer, JD Sports Fashion

February 2017 - March 2020

I joined JD Sports as its first full-time Motion Graphic Designer, bringing 3D into the studio's creative work. Alongside website assets and content produced in-house, I led an outdoor brand campaign in New York's Times Square.

SKILLS

AI implementation
Image & video
Motion design & 3D

Node workflows
Batch production
AI-assisted coding

SELECTED PROJECT

PRTFLO / SS26

I built PRTFLO as a fictional fashion house, creating the imagery, campaign motion, copy and storefront. Behind it, I connected shared instructions, shot lists and automated asset preparation into a repeatable process.
